

Dennis M. Bauman

Program Director, Information Warfare Systems
Space and Naval Warfare Systems Command

Dennis M. Bauman, a native of Lewistown, Pennsylvania, received his Bachelor of Science Degree from the Pennsylvania State University in 1971. He served as a Lieutenant (jg) in the United States Navy until 1975, as a Weapons Officer and Qualified Surface Warfare Officer aboard an amphibious warship. Mr. Bauman returned to the University of California at San Diego where he earned his Master of Science Degree in Computer Science in June, 1977.

Mr. Bauman was employed by NCR Corporation in San Diego as a Virtual Systems Architect from 1977 until 1980. He returned to the government in 1980 as a Software Manager for the Naval Ocean Systems Center, San Diego. In 1986, he was selected to Head the Operational Systems Branch of the Submarine Communications Division where he supervised 35 government scientists and engineers. In this capacity, he was responsible for a wide range of Submarine Communications development, enhancement, and maintenance programs.

Mr. Bauman was selected as Head of the Submarine Communications and C4I System Division in 1992. In this capacity, he was responsible for the management of 100 government scientific personnel, and had responsibility for the development and deployment of a diverse array of communications products to improve Navy and Joint C4I. He assumed his current position in September of 1997. He is a member of the Senior Executive Service and the Navy's Acquisitions Professional Community for Program Management.

Mr. Bauman has been a faculty member of the University of California at San Diego, Computer Science and Engineering Department since 1980. In this capacity, he designed and continues to teach a laboratory course in Microprocessor System Development.